BENJAMIN KUENTZ

ÉDITEUR DE WHISKY FRANÇAIS

Maison Benjamin Kuentz Spicy Nouba

What if the French invented Whisky?

ROUND OF FEVERISH SPICES AND RIPE FRUIT. A COLOUR, A TEMPO, THOSE OF SPICY NOUBA, A VELVET WHISKY, GENEROUS, RHYTHMIC. Delicate, lively, smoky, fruity and slightly peaty at the same time, Latin at heart, oriental in body. Its nose is surprisingly lively. Woody green cereal notes, fleshed out with vanilla essence and candied orange peel. In the mouth, it is a long moment of suavidad. Soft and supple, a slow attack. Vanilla again, mixed with sensual spices, turmeric and sweet paprika, are shaken with a zest of bitterness. It is even more striking in the Old Fashioned version.

RATINGS

90 Points, Whisky Advocate: "Intriguing use of Cognac, Italian vermouth and ginger brandy casks; the nose has lemoon meringue pie, delicate florals, white grape, candied orange, green banana, herbs, ground pepper, mild paprika, tobacco, and new pencils. The palate shows sweet dried fruits, malt, light vanilla, caramels, ginger loaf, peppery spice, and a dry finish of bitter peels, turmeric, and pepper."
